FOREWORD

By Honourable Minister for Tourism, Culture and Creative Arts

It is with immense pride and joy that I write this foreword to mark the official launch of December in Ghana 2025, under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency President John Dramani Mahama.

December in Ghana has become one of our nation's most anticipated and vibrant seasons, a period when our cities, beaches, and towns come alive with music, colour, and celebration. It is a time when returning families, the diaspora, and visitors from across the world join hands with Ghanaians to share in our culture, creativity, and warmth.

This annual celebration represents more than festivities; it reflects Ghana's growing stature as a destination for cultural and heritage tourism on the African continent. Through events that span the length and breadth of our nation, from concerts and art exhibitions to culinary fairs and traditional festivals December in Ghana tells the story of who we are: a proud, hospitable, and creative people.

The 2025 edition carries renewed significance as it aligns with the vision of His Excellency the President to reposition Ghana's tourism, culture, and creative industries as central drivers of inclusive economic growth. It also strengthens the Black Star Experience, our bold national agenda to make Ghana the gateway to authentic African heritage, culture, and creativity and the headquarter of Pan-Africanism.

I extend my sincere appreciation to all our partners, event organizers, creative professionals, local authorities, industry players, and members of the diaspora whose tireless contributions continue to make this celebration a global attraction. Together, we are showcasing the very best of Ghana to the world and reaffirming our place as the heartbeat of African hospitality and culture.

As we celebrate December in Ghana 2025, let us continue to open our doors and hearts to the world and unite through music, culture, creative arts and shared experiences that inspire pride and connection.

Welcome to December in Ghana 2025 where the world comes home!

Hon. Abla Dzifa Gomashie
Minister for Tourism, Culture and Creative Arts

WELCOME MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

It is with great excitement that I welcome you to December in GHANA 2025 — Ghana's ultimate season of culture, music, and celebration.

Each year, December transforms Ghana into the heartbeat of the African diaspora. We don't just host events; we create experiences that bring the world home to Ghana — where heritage meets creativity, and celebration drives opportunity. From electrifying concerts to fashion showcases, food festivals, art, and community gatherings, this is more than a calendar; it's a movement.

On behalf of the Ghana Tourism Authority and the Ministry of Tourism, Culture and Creative Arts, I invite you to be part of it. Come celebrate, connect, and experience the unmatched spirit of Ghana.

We look forward to welcoming you.

Maame Efua HOUADJETO
Chief Executive Officer
Ghana Tourism Authority

STATEMENT FROM THE COORDINATOR OF THE BLACK STAR EXPERIENCE

Ghana — the Soul of Africa — warmly invites you to experience the magic of December in Ghana, a season alive with rhythm, colour, and connection. Feel the beat of traditional drums blend with the pulse of Afrobeats, stroll through lively tourist markets, explore our 29 historic forts and castles, and unwind in our beautiful natural reserves and beaches. Every part of Ghana tells a story — one of pride, culture, and unity.

We say "Akwaaba" — Welcome to Ghana, and we mean it from the heart. Here, you'll find genuine warmth, friendly faces, and unforgettable moments. Ghana is renowned worldwide for its hospitality, and this December, you can expect that and more.

Join us and the global African family to celebrate creativity, culture, and togetherness — where every smile, every dance, and every flavour reminds you that Ghana is not just a destination... It's home.

REX OWUSU MARFO (MR.)
